Central Court: No Night Court: No

Public Comment

Proposal Posted for Public Comment: Yes Comments Received: Yes

Christine Mason, Milbourne Borough Manager: Objects to transferring all parking cases from 32-1-33 to 32-2-52 because on average would add two cases a week to caseload. Further, there is a small number of cases (150 in 2011) and would increase travel time and expense for personnel in Milbourne.

General Comments

Plan was amended on 3/30/12 and on 4/16/12.

Magisterial District Reestablishment 2012

County Name: Delaware

Judicial District #: 32

Existing and Proposed Magisterial Districts

Magisterial District #: 32-1-20

Proposed Action: Realign

Average Annual Caseload:	2,942	Average Annual Workload:	36,878
% Difference in Caseload (magisterial district/judicial district):	-35.00	% Difference in Workload (magisterial district/judicial district):	10.00
% Difference in Caseload (magisterial district/class of county):	-52.00	Workload outside of a +/- 15% range requires realignment or support to maintain current configuration.

Realignment of this district will help workloads within the three districts in the city of Chester. Although this will increase workload above 15%, it is expected to decline in the future because of a decline in population and filings.

Proposed reestablishment of this district because in 2002, the Supreme Court established a new office (32-2-54) to alleviate the high workload from Springfield Township; the workload and caseload should increase in the future; and the district's workload is moderately below the +/- 15% range.

Notes on Analysis:

CASELOAD: The statistics provided are used to compare the average annual caseload of each magisterial district to the class of county average as one measure to assess whether any changes should be proposed. Reported values are provided by the judicial district; the comparison values are provided by the MDJS.

WORKLOAD: Where the average annual workload of a magisterial district is greater/less than 15% of the judicial district's workload average, the judicial district should realign - OR - explain why this difference does not impact workload equity within the judicial district. A value that is green indicates it is within range; red requires justification if realignment or elimination are not proposed.

RE: PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE 2012 MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT REESTABLISHMENT PLAN FOR THE THIRTY-SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Dear Mr. Mittleman:

As we discussed last week, the Court proposes to amend the 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan by deleting Paragraph 8 of the Plan which would have transferred Thornbury Township from Magisterial District 32-2-49 to Magisterial District 32-2-48. In all other respects, the Reestablishment Plan dated February 29, 2012, and the amendments to the Reestablishment Plan dated March 30, 2012, remain the same.

Attached are the original and one copy of the foregoing proposed amendment dated April 16, 2012, the amended Judicial District Summary Worksheet dated April 16, 2012, and the amended Magisterial District Reestablishment Worksheets for Magisterial Districts 32-2-48 and 32-2-49.

If you should have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours,

Joseph P. Cronin, Jr.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE 2012 MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT REESTABLISHMENT PLAN

The Court proposes to amend the 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan as follows:

1. Paragraph 8 of the 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan is deleted. Thornbury Township will remain with Magisterial District 32-2-49.

In all other respects, the Reestablishment Plan dated February 29, 2012, and the amendments to the Reestablishment Plan dated March 30, 2012, remain the same.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

THE 2012 MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT REESTABLISHMENT PLAN

Magisterial District Reestablishment is a legally required process that takes place once every ten years. As part of the 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment process, the Chief Justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has requested each President Judge to consider whether it is feasible to eliminate any of the magisterial districts in his or her judicial district. The Chief Justice has established a goal of reducing the statewide number of magisterial districts by 10%. The Chief Justice has stated, however, that the "strong preference is to eliminate magisterial districts through attrition" and that "whenever practicable, reductions should occur by eliminating a district which is vacant or in which the incumbent is retiring or not planning to seek reelection. As a result, elimination of districts may occur anywhere from two to six years in the future, depending on retirement dates." The Court, therefore, has considered whether it is feasible to eliminate any Delaware County magisterial districts through attrition.

The 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment process also seeks to balance as much as possible the judicial workload among the magisterial districts. The Court has considered a large number of factors including, but not limited to, the judicial workload in 2010 for each magisterial district, the average annual judicial workload over the past six years for each magisterial district, a comparison of the average annual judicial workload over the past six years for each magisterial district to an overall county average judicial workload for all magisterial districts, whether or not the average annual judicial workload for a magisterial district is 15% higher or lower than the county's average annual judicial workload, population and population trends for each magisterial district and the geographic area of each magisterial district.

The 2012 Reestablishment Plan: 1) proposes fifteen major changes to the magisterial district court system, 2) directly impacts twenty magisterial districts covering twenty-eight municipalities, 3) eliminates two magisterial districts in addition to the previous elimination of the magisterial district of Magisterial District Judge Edward J. Gannon, Jr., 4) doubles the number of magisterial districts that either fall within the desired 15% range, or are within 4% of the range, from eight magisterial districts to sixteen magisterial districts, 5) sharply reduces the number of magisterial districts that are below the 15% range from fifteen magisterial districts to seven magisterial districts, 6) significantly improves the judicial workload in eighteen of the twenty-five magisterial districts which were outside of the 15% range, 7) results in twenty-five of the thirty-four magisterial districts either being within the 15% range or having a significant improvement in judicial workload and 8) ensures that the magisterial district court system will continue to provide the highest quality of justice to the citizens of Delaware County.

The Reestablishment Plan proposes the following fifteen changes to the magisterial district court system in Delaware County:

1. Upon the mandatory retirement of the Honorable John C. Tuten on December 31, 2013, Magisterial District 32-1-29 (which consists of Wards One, Two, Three and Six in Radnor Township) will be eliminated effective January 1, 2014.
2. After Magisterial District 32-1-29 is eliminated, Wards One, Two (Precinct 1), Three and Six in Radnor Township will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-2-43 (The Honorable Leon Hunter's magisterial district).
3. After Magisterial District 32-1-29 is eliminated, Ward Two (Precinct 2) in Radnor Township will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-1-27 (The Honorable David H. Lang's magisterial district).

4. After Magisterial District 32-1-29 is eliminated, Edgmont Township will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-2-43 (The Honorable Leon Hunter's magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-2-48 (The Honorable Walter A. Strohl's magisterial district).

5. Upon the mandatory retirement of the Honorable Edward W. Christie on December 31, 2016, Magisterial District 32-2-41 (which consists of Folcroft Borough and Tinicum Township) will be eliminated effective January 1, 2017.

6. After Magisterial District 32-2-41 is eliminated, Tinicum Township will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-2-44 (The Honorable Jack D. Lippart's magisterial district).

7. After Magisterial District 32-2-41 is eliminated, Folcroft Borough will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-2-40 (The Honorable Steven A. Sandone's magisterial district).

8. Thornbury Township will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-2-49 (The Honorable Richard M. Cappelli's magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-2-48 (The Honorable Walter A. Strohl's magisterial district).

9. Chester Heights Borough will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-2-38 (The Honorable Diane Holefelder's magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-2-48 (The Honorable Walter A. Strohl's magisterial district).

10. Ward Seven (Precincts Two and Ten) in Upper Darby Township will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-1-33 (The Honorable Harry J. Karapalides' magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-1-35 (The Honorable Ann Berardocco's magisterial district).

11. Ward Three in Haverford Township will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-1-25 (The Honorable Robert R. Burke's magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-2-53 (The Honorable Elisa C. Lacianca's magisterial district).

12. Wards One and Five in Nether Providence Township will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-1-28 (The Honorable Stephanie H. Klein's magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-1-30 (The Honorable Vincent D. Gallagher's magisterial district).

13. All parking cases in Magisterial District 32-1-33 (The Honorable Harry J. Karapalides' magisterial district) will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-2-52 (The Honorable Kelly A. Micozzie-Aguirre's magisterial district).

14. All parking cases in Magisterial District 32-1-26 (The Honorable John J. Perfetti's magisterial district) will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-1-34 (The Honorable Robert J. Radano's magisterial district) and Magisterial District 32-2-52 (The Honorable Kelly A. Micozzie-Aguirre's magisterial district).

15. All truancy cases in Magisterial District 32-1-21 (The Honorable Dawn L. Vann's magisterial district) will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-1-22 (The Honorable Spencer B. Seaton, Jr.'s magisterial district).

The following sets forth the Reestablishment Plan and contains additional information with respect to the affected magisterial districts, the current jurisdiction of the affected magisterial districts, the proposed changes to the magisterial districts and the effective dates for the implementation of the proposed changes.

NOTICE

Every ten years the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania reviews the number and boundaries of the magisterial districts within each judicial district. President Judge Joseph P. Cronin, Jr., has prepared a proposed Reestablished Plan to the Supreme Court for the reestablishment of magisterial districts within the Thirty-Second Judicial District. A copy of the plan has been published on the Delaware County Website at www.co.delaware.pa.us. Copies of the Plan are also available at The Francis J. Catania Law Library, Delaware County Court House, 201 West Front Street, Media, PA, The Administrative Office for Magisterial District Judges, 100 West Front Street, Media, PA, The Delaware County Bar Association Building, 335 West Front Street, Media, PA, and at the public libraries located in: Darby Township, Middletown Township, Newtown Township, Radnor Township, Concord Township, Ridley Township, Tinicum Township, Upper Darby Township, Folcroft Borough, Media Borough and Prospect Park Borough. Members of the Bar and the public are invited to review the Proposal and to provide written comments. All comments must be received within 30 days of the date of publication of the Proposal addressed to The Administrator for Magisterial District Judges, 100 West Front Street, Media, PA 19063-3208, or via fax to (610) 891-7849 or via email to: williamsw@co.delaware.pa.us.

AMENDMENTS TO THE 2012 MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT REESTABLISHMENT PLAN

The 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan is hereby amended based on comments received during the public comment period.

1. Paragraph 13 of the 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan is amended as follows:

   All parking cases in Magisterial District 32-1-33 (The Honorable Harry J. Karapalides' magisterial district) will be transferred to Magisterial District 32-2-52 (The Honorable Kelly A. Micozzie-Aguirre's magisterial district) except that parking cases filed by the Borough of Millbourne shall continue to be filed in Magisterial District 32-1-33 and heard by the Honorable Harry J. Karapalides.

2. Paragraph 15 of the 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan is deleted and replaced by the following:

   Ward Two (Precincts 1 and 3) in the City of Chester will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-1-21 (The Honorable Dawn L. Vann's magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-1-20 (The Honorable Wilden H. Davis' magisterial district) and Ward Eight in the City of Chester will be transferred from Magisterial District 32-1-21 to Magisterial District 32-1-22 (The Honorable Spencer B. VI. LIST EXISTING MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES:
City of Chester, Wards One and Two (Precincts 2 and 4)

VII. LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES:
City of Chester, Wards One and Two

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

By transferring Ward Two (Precincts 1 and 3) in the City of Chester from Magisterial District 32-1-21 to this magisterial district and by transferring Ward Eight in the City of Chester from Magisterial District 32-1-21 to Magisterial District 32-1-22, the judicial workloads and caseloads for the three magisterial districts in the City of Chester will be significantly more balanced. Workload equity within the judicial district will also be greatly enhanced by the foregoing realignments.

Although the district's judicial workload will be above the fifteen percent range, the judicial workload should decline in the future. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload 37,343 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 34,811 in 2010. Similarly, the district had 2,925 case filings in 2010 and 2,436 case filings in 2011. The district's population has also declined. The district had a population of 13,503 in 2000 and a population of 13,211 in 2010. The district's judicial workload and population should continue to decline in the future.

By transferring Ward Two (Precincts 1 and 3) in the City of Chester from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-1-20 and by transferring Ward Eight in the City of Chester from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-1-22, the judicial workload for this magisterial district will be very significantly reduced. The judicial workloads and caseloads for the three magisterial districts in the City of Chester will also be significantly more balanced. Workload equity within the judicial district will be greatly enhanced by the foregoing realignments.

Although the district's judicial workload will be above the fifteen percent range, the judicial workload should decline in the future. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 66,335 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 65,248 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 4,830 annual case filings over the past three years, 4,657 case filings in 2010 and 4,069 case filings in 2011. The district's population has also declined. The district had a population of 12,204 in 2000 and a population of 10,605 in 2010. The district's judicial workload and population should continue to decline in the future.

VI. LIST EXISTING MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Borough of Collingdale	✓
VII. LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Borough of Collingdale
VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: There are no proposed changes to this magisterial district. The district has an average total workload that is within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload. The district also has an average total caseload that is within ten percent of the judicial district's average total caseload. Case filings, moreover, continue to increase. The district had an average of 4,324 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 4,834 annual case filings over the past three years and 4,623 case filings in 2010. Also, the population of the district is increasing. The district had a population of 8,664 in 2000 and a population of 8,786 in 2010. Because of the exceedingly high judicial workloads and caseloads of contiguous magisterial districts, it is not feasible to eliminate this magisterial district.

Haverford Township, Ward Nine and Marple Township, Wards One, Three and Four ✓

VII. LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES:

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

The district's judicial workload and caseload should significantly increase in the future based on current and projected developments occurring in Marple Township and Haverford Township. The following real estate developments are either located in the district, or are in Marple Township Wards or Haverford Township Wards directly adjacent to the district or will require travel through the district to access the developments.

1) Mid County Village – West Chester Pike, Lawrence and Langford Roads

This proposed 60 acre development, owned by Marple Associates, is located within the district and consists of the following:

- 140,000 square feet of Retail Area
- 130,000 square feet of Office Area
- 267 Residential Townhouse Units

This development is partially underway with the construction of the infrastructure.

2) Villages of the Four Seasons – Media Line Road (Old Line Road)

This proposed development, also owned by Marple Associates, consists of an approved residential subdivision with 100 dwelling units split between Marple Township and Newtown Township.

3) Marple Crossroads Shopping Center – Walmart Super Store

The Shopping Center is now at full capacity with the opening of the new Walmart Super Store, the Burlington Coat Factory, an expanded Marshalls Department Store, Sally Beauty Supply, Carters Infant Wear, K&G Men's Store and the Dress Barn.

4) Gamma Swim Club Property – Gamma Lane along I 476

The property is located within the district. The property is a former swim club that, while zoned residential, has been the subject of commercial development speculation ranging from offices to religious uses.

5) Pathmark Property – Lawrence Road

This property is located within the district and consists of the former Pathmark Supermarket. The property has been the subject of inquiries regarding the conversion of the property to office use as well as a potential entertainment use as a theater.

6) Delaware County Community College – STEMS Building

The Delaware County Community College recently completed construction of the new 60,000 square feet STEMS building. The Community College is also currently undergoing remodeling of the existing classrooms and support facilities to keep up with the increase in enrollment.

7) Ravenscliff Subdivision – Benson Homes, Inc., Old Marple Road

The first phase of this residential development is currently under construction and consists of 214 residential units with 47 carriage/ townhouses and 167 condominiums. Phase Two has been approved and should begin in the Spring of this year.

8) The Goodhill Property

The Goodhill Property which was recently destroyed by fire is located within the district. Similar to its former use, the property is anticipated to be developed for retail and office uses.

9) Nelmeyer & Hughes Properties – Paxon Hollow Road

These properties currently consist of 9 acres each and are zoned residential. While the zoning in the area only permits two acre lots, the Township may face court challenges to overturn the two acre zoning. If the zoning is overturned, the Township could anticipate seven to eight single family lots created on each property.

10) Sproul Road (SR 320) – West Side between Cedar Grove Road and Paxon Hollow Road

This area of Sproul Road is laced with commercial and residential properties and there is discussion regarding redevelopment of the residential properties with direct frontage on Sproul Road to commercial businesses. There is also the potential development of four properties directly across from the Sproul Plaza Shopping Center which can be easily redeveloped with approved zoning changes. The Township has had inquiries regarding one of the properties and the potential construction of a bank.

11) Traffic

Marple Township has experienced a surge in traffic congestion on the entire length of West Chester Pike (SR 3), a major regional arterial roadway through the Township. Traffic congestion has also increased on Sproul Road (SR 320), Newtown Street Road (SR 252) as well as in neighborhoods in the Township, where traffic attempts to by-pass major roadways. The Township is the only municipality that maintains two interchanges to the Blue Route (I 476) making the Township susceptible to commuter traffic through the Township.

The Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission (DVRPC) annually collects data on the foregoing State roads which indicates that traffic patterns and volumes are likely to increase as population and employment centers grow in central and western Delaware County and Chester County.

12) Housing

Marple Township has seen a stabilization of the number of new homes constructed in the past several years. However, the Township is experiencing a revitalization of its older neighborhoods. In the Township's less restrictive zoning districts, existing single family homes are being razed and new duplex and twin homes are being constructed adding to the density of the Township.

13) Population

The Township's current population is 23,737 based on the 2010 Census. The population is expected to remain stable through 2030 based on projections by the DVRPC.

14) Haverford Township Developments

Haverford Township has plans for development of the property known as the Quarry on Township Line Road which is entirely within this magisterial district. The proposed plans include a Lowe's, a Giant Food Market, Panera Bread, Chipolte, Chick-Fil-A and a bank yet to be recruited. The new YMCA on Eagle Road and the Haverford Township Community Recreation Center at the Haverford Reserve on Darby Road are located in Wards adjacent to this magisterial district. The Recreation Center includes ingress and egress directly accessed from Marple Road which traverses the district.

The Merion Golf Club, moreover, will host the 2013 U.S. Open golf tournament and the Club is anticipating a significant increase to the 18,000 daily spectator tickets sold during an earlier Open.

15) Increased Police Enforcement

In recent years, the Haverford Township Police Department has not been operating with a full complement of police officers. With the recent addition of several new officers, it is anticipated that the number of case filings will increase over the next ten years.

The foregoing retail, office and residential developments, increased traffic, new housing construction and increased police enforcement will result in increased criminal cases, traffic cases, parking cases, non-traffic cases, civil filings and landlord/tenant disputes.

For the foregoing reasons, Magisterial District 32-1-24 should be reestablished.

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

By transferring Ward Three in Haverford Township from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-2-53, the judicial workloads and caseloads for the two Haverford Township magisterial districts will be much more balanced. We also expect that the district's judicial workload and caseload will continue to increase.

For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 22,005 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 22,231 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 23,088 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 4,201 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 4,345 annual case filings over the past three years and 4,624 case filings in 2010.

The district also has the fifth highest population in the judicial district and the population continues to increase. The district had a population of 20,791 in 2000 and a population of 21,594 in 2010.

The prospect for significant growth in the district's judicial workload and case filings is also demonstrated by the following facts. The district includes SR 1 and SR 3 which are major traffic arteries in Delaware County and provide primary access for people travelling into Philadelphia. Many of Haverford Township's office buildings such as the Falcon Center, several apartment complexes, many retail businesses and bars/restaurants are located along these busy main highways. The Manoa Shopping Center is also located along Route 3, which in addition to the Applebee's Restaurant, consists of twenty other retail stores. Route 1, Route 3 and the Eagle Road corridor generate an increasing number of parking and moving citations as well as criminal and non-traffic filings in the district.

Haverford Township and the district have experienced intense residential and non-residential development. A large number of elementary, middle school and high school facilities, major hospital and health care facilities and a very substantial number of commercial establishments including the Manoa Shopping Center, the L&M Shopping Center, the Llanerch Shopping Center, the Oakmont and Brookline Business Districts and the Eagle Road corridor are located in the district. Some of these areas have experienced an increase in criminal activity which, unfortunately, is anticipated to increase in the future. Civil and criminal case filings will certainly increase.

Haverford High School, Haverford Middle School, Manoa Elementary School, St. Denis Elementary School, Annunciation Elementary School and Sacred Heart Elementary School are located within the district. These institutions generate significant and increasing parking cases, moving violations and non-traffic citations and involve significant community involvement for the magisterial district judge. The number of truancy cases has also been increasing.

Existing business and non-residential development will lead to additional case filings within the district. Proposed developments which have already been approved by the Commissioners of Haverford Township, including the building of a state-of-the-art YMCA on the Eagle Road corridor and the building of an expansive shopping center along Route 1, which will include a Lowe's Home Center, a Giant Super Market and several other retail stores, will generate additional criminal, traffic and non-traffic filings in the district.

In recent years, the Haverford Township Police Department has not been operating with a full complement of police officers. With the recent addition of several new officers, it is anticipated that the number of case filings will increase over the next 10 years.

The recent and continuing development of the Haverford Reserve Property consisting of 204 acres of residential and recreational development will also continue to generate additional case filings in the district.

For the foregoing reasons, the district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to increase in the future.

By transferring parking cases from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-1-34 and Magisterial District 32-2-52, the district's judicial workload and caseload will be very significantly reduced. We expect, moreover, that the district's judicial workload and caseload will continue to decline. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 50,334 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 48,669 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 8,244 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 8,178 annual case filings over the past three years, 7,553 case filings in 2010 and 7,054 case filings in 2011. The district's population also continues to decline. The district had a population of 22,136 in 2000 and a population of 21,424 in 2010. The district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to decline in the future.

Furthermore, the judicial workloads and caseloads of Magisterial District 32-1-34 and Magisterial District 32-2-52 will be within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average judicial workload by transferring the parking cases to the districts.

By eliminating Magisterial District 32-1-29 and transferring Ward Two (Precinct 2) in Radnor Township from Magisterial District 32-1-29 to this magisterial district, the district's judicial workload and caseload will improve. The district will have an average total workload that is fifteen percent below the judicial district's average total workload. The district also has the third highest population in the judicial district and the population continues to increase. The district had a population of 25,926 in 2000 and a population of 26,670 in 2010. The population will be higher with the addition of Ward Two (Precinct 2) in Radnor Township. This district is also the fourth-largest in geographic area in the judicial district. The district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to increase in the future.

By transferring Wards One and Five in Nether Providence Township from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-1-30, workload equity within the judicial district will be greatly enhanced. Although the district will have a judicial workload that is slightly above the fifteen percent range, the district's judicial workload and caseload have been steadily declining. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 44,102 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 41,285 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 39,424 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 6,453 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 6,211 annual case filings over the past three years, 6,050 case filings in 2010 and 6,013 case filings in 2011. The district's judicial workload and caseload should continue to decline in the future.

Magisterial District 32-1-30, moreover, will be within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average judicial workload by transferring to it Wards One and Five in Nether Providence Township.

VII.	LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Springfield Township, Wards Two (Precinct 2), Three, Four and Seven and Morton Borough
VIII.	ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

This magisterial district should be reestablished for the following reasons. First, the Order of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania dated December 13, 2002, created a second magisterial district in Springfield Township (Magisterial District 32-2-54) because of the excessive burden which existed on this magisterial district in serving the entire Township. The Township had exceedingly high case filings in 2002, a very large population and a large geographic area. The situation remains unchanged in 2012. Second, the district's judicial workload and caseload should dramatically increase in the future. Third, the district's caseload is very close to the ten percent range and the district's judicial workload is only modestly below the fifteen percent range.

In 2002, the population of Springfield Township was 26,392, or 58% higher than the judicial district's average population of 16,692. The average caseload was 5,674, or 32% higher than the judicial district's average caseload of 4,302. The population density was 3,923, or 36% higher than the judicial district's average population density of 2,890. The Township was also experiencing extensive commercial redevelopment and proposed residential development.

Baltimore Pike, Route 420, Route 320, Route 1 and I-476 (the Blue Route) were all major, heavily traveled commercial thoroughfares that ran through Springfield Township. The geographic area of Springfield Township is 6.727 square miles which was considerably higher than many of the other magisterial districts.

In order to relieve the burden on this magisterial district and to alleviate inequality caused by the high caseload, population, population density and geographic area of Springfield Township, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania determined that the citizens of Springfield Township and Morton Borough would best be served by the establishment of an additional magisterial district in Springfield Township.

The situation in 2012 has not significantly changed. The population of Springfield Township has increased to 26,880 which is 63% higher than the judicial district's average population of 16,441. The Township had an average annual judicial workload of 44,727 over the past six years which is 33% higher than the judicial district's average annual judicial workload and an average annual judicial workload of 43,770 over the past three years which is 27% higher than the judicial district's average annual judicial workload.

Similarly, the Township had an average of 6,881 annual case filings over the past six years which is 52% higher than the judicial district's average annual case filings and an average of 6,813 annual case filings over the past three years which is 44% higher than the judicial district's average annual case filings.

Just as importantly, this magisterial district's judicial workload and caseload should increase dramatically in the future. Because the Springfield Township Police Department has had at least five vacancies in its police complement over the past two years and because the Township Police Department has been involved in intense contract negotiations with the Township over the past two years, traffic case filings have dramatically declined over that two year period. For example, the district had 3,390 traffic case filings in 2007, 3,578 traffic case filings in 2008 and 3,341 traffic case filings in 2009. In sharp contrast, the district had only 2,114 traffic case filings in 2010 and only 1,753 traffic case filings 2011. The district's judicial workload and caseload should increase dramatically when the police vacancies are filled, the contract negotiations are completed and traffic case filings return to their normal level. In any event, the district has a caseload which is very close to the ten percent range and a judicial workload which is only modestly below the fifteen percent range.

For the foregoing reasons, Magisterial District 32-1-32 should be reestablished.

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

By transferring Ward Seven (Precincts 2 and 10) from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-1-35 and by transferring parking cases from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-2-52, the district's judicial workload and caseload will be very significantly reduced. The district, moreover, had 9,541 case filings in 2010 and 8,936 case filings in 2011. The district's judicial workload and caseload should continue to decline in the future.

The judicial workloads and caseloads of Magisterial District 32-1-35 and Magisterial District 32-2-52 will also very significantly improve. Both Magisterial District 32-1-35 and Magisterial District 32-2-52 will have average total workloads that are within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload.

VIII.	ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: Although the district's judicial workload and caseload are above the fifteen percent range, we expect a significant decline in the judicial workload and caseload in the future. For example, the district had an average of 6,661 annual case filings over the past three years, 5,992 case filings in 2010 and 5,867 case filings in 2011. The district's population has also declined. The district had a population of 16,804 in 2000 and a population of 16,116 in 2010. Furthermore, the district does not have a significant backlog of cases. The district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to decline in the future. Just as importantly, the magisterial districts contiguous to the district have high case filings and judicial workloads. Under such circumstances, it is unrealistic to consider realigning the district with other contiguous magisterial districts. For example, the district's judicial workload would have to be reduced by forty percent to bring it within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average judicial workload. The following would be the effect of transferring forty percent of the district's judicial workload to Magisterial District 32-1-22, Magisterial District 32-2-39 or Magisterial District 32-2-38.

Magisterial District 32-1-22 (Judge Seaton's District)

a. Judge Seaton's new district would have had 5,386 case filings in 2010 which would have been 25% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked eleventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 66,898 in 2010 which would have been 105% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 5,417 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 20% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked twelfth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 62,576 over the past six years which would have been 86% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 16,602 which would have been 1% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked thirtieth among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 4.334 square miles which would have been 20% below the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked thirtieth among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-2-39 (Judge McCray's District)

a. Judge McCray's new district would have had 10,257 case filings in 2010 which would have been 137% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 83,883 in 2010 which would have been 157% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 9,974 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 121% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 78,227 over the past six years which would have been 133% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 23,959 which would have been 46% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 6.734 square miles which would have been 25% above the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked tenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-2-38 (Judge Holefelder's District)

a. Judge Holefelder's new district would have had 5,229 case filings in 2010 which would have been 21% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked eleventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 55,783 in 2010 which would have been 71% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 5,818 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 29% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked tenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 55,271 over the past six years which would have been 64% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked fourth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 33,885 which would have been 106% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 13.884 square miles which would have been 157% above the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked third highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

For all of the foregoing reasons, Magisterial District 32-1-36 should be reestablished.

VII.	LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: The Boroughs of Colwyn, Darby and Sharon Hill

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

The Order of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania dated February 15, 2011, approved the merger of this magisterial district with Magisterial District 32-2-50 (consisting of Colwyn and Sharon Hill Boroughs), effective March 1, 2011. A senior magisterial district judge has been assigned to the district to assist in the transition. There are no changes recommended to the district at this time.

Although the district's judicial workload is above the fifteen percent range, the judicial workload and caseload were significantly declining prior to the merger. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 54,853 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 50,500 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 46,320 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 5,649 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 4,740 annual case filings over the past three years and 3,853 case filings in 2010. Furthermore, the district does not have a significant backlog of cases.

Just as importantly, the magisterial districts contiguous to the district have high case filings and judicial workloads. Under such circumstances, it is unrealistic to consider realigning the district with any other contiguous magisterial district. For example, the district's judicial workload would have to be reduced by thirty percent to bring it within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average judicial workload.

The following would be the effect of transferring thirty percent of the district's judicial workload to Magisterial District 32-1-23, Magisterial District 32-2-47 or Magisterial District 32-2-52. Please note that the following caseload, judicial workload, population and geographic area numbers would be higher if we included the combined numbers of the two districts after the merger.

Magisterial District 32-1-23 (Judge McKeon's District)

a. Judge McKeon's new district would have had 5,779 case filings in 2010 which would have been 34% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked tenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 42,823 in 2010 which would have been 31% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked ninth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 6,019 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 33% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked tenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 49,679 over the past six years which would have been 48% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked seventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 11,992 which would have been 27% below the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked twenty-seventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 1.112 square miles which would have been 80% below the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked thirty-second among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-2-47 (Judge Williams' District)

a. Judge Williams' new district would have had 7,715 case filings in 2010 which would have been 79% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked third highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 57,857 in 2010 which would have been 77% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 9,745 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 116% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 62,970 over the past six years which would have been 87% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 17,317 which would have been 6% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked thirtieth among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 2.052 square miles which would have been 62% below the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked twentieth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-2-52 (Judge Micozzie-Aguirre's District)

a. Judge Micozzie-Aguirre's new district would have had 8,140 case filings in 2010 which would have been 88% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 43,128 in 2010 which would have been 32% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked ninth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 8,997 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 99% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 45,271 over the past six years which would have been 35% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked eighth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 19,051 which would have been 16% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked eighth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 2.132 square miles which would have been 61% below the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked nineteenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

For all the foregoing reasons, Magisterial District 32-2-37 should be reestablished.

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

Despite transferring Chester Heights Borough from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-2-48, the district's average total workload will continue to be within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload. The district, moreover, had 2,832 case filings in 2010 and 2,875 case filings in 2011. The district also has the second highest population in the judicial district and the population is increasing. The district had a population of 26,528 in 2000 and a population of 27,439 in 2010. The district is also the fifth largest in geographic area in the judicial district. The transfer of Chester Heights Borough will not materially affect the district's population or geographic ranking. The district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to increase in the future.

Furthermore, the judicial workload and caseload of Magisterial District 32-2-48 will very significantly improve by transferring to it Chester Heights Borough from this magisterial district, Thornbury Township from Magisterial District 32-2-49 and Edgmont Township from Magisterial District 32-2-43.

Furthermore, the district does not have a significant backlog of cases.

VIII.	ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

Although the district's judicial workload and caseload are above the fifteen percent range, we expect a significant decline in the judicial workload and caseload in the future. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 59,897 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 59,447 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 8,297 annual case filings over the past three years, 7,860 case filings in 2010 and 7,368 case filings in 2011. The district's population has also declined. The district had a population of 17,833 in 2000 and a population of 17,513 in 2010. Furthermore, the district does not have a significant backlog of cases. The district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to decline in the future.

Just as importantly, the magisterial districts contiguous to the district have high case filings and judicial workloads. Under such circumstances, it is unrealistic to consider realigning the district with other contiguous magisterial districts. For example, the district's judicial workload would have to be reduced by thirty percent to bring it within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average judicial workload. The following would be the effect of transferring thirty percent of the district's judicial workload to Magisterial District 32-2-48, Magisterial District 32-2-38, Magisterial District 32-1-20, Magisterial District 32-1-28 and Magisterial District 32-2-46.

Magisterial District 32-2-48 (Judge Strohl's District)

a. Judge Strohl's new district would have had 6,038 case filings in 2010 which would have been 40% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked ninth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 46,600 in 2010 which would have been 43% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked sixth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 5,330 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 18% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked twelfth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 44,500 over the past six years which would have been 32% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked eighth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 30,353 which would have been 85% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 34.620 square miles which would have been 541% above the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-2-38 (Judge Holefelder's District)

a. Judge Holefelder's new district would have had 5,190 case filings in 2010 which would have been 20% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked eleventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 49,181 in 2010 which would have been 50% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 5,387 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 19% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked twelfth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 48,529 over the past six years which would have been 44% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked seventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 32,693 which would have been 99% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 12.337 square miles which would have been 129% above the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked fourth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-1-20 (Judge Davis's District)

a. Judge Davis's new district would have had 5,697 case filings in 2010 which would have been 32% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked tenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 58,167 in 2010 which would have been 78% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 5,528 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 22% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked eleventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 58,501 over the past six years which would have been 74% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 19,927 which would have been 21% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked eighth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 2.587 square miles which would have been 52% below the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked nineteenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-1-28 (Judge Klein's District)

a. Judge Klein's new district would have had 7,896 case filings in 2010 which would have been 83% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 54,252 in 2010 which would have been 66% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 7,711 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 71% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked fourth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 56,645 over the past six years which would have been 69% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked fourth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 24,976 which would have been 52% above the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 6.527 square miles which would have been 21% above the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked tenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

Magisterial District 32-2-46 (Judge Lippincott's District)

a. Judge Lippincott's new district would have had 9,348 case filings in 2010 which would have been 116% above the judicial district's average of 4,320 cases and which would have ranked second highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

b. The new district would have had a judicial workload of 55,625 in 2010 which would have been 70% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 32,680 and which would have ranked fifth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

c. The new district would have had an average of 8,599 annual case filings over the past six years which would have been 90% above the judicial district's average of 4,516 cases and which would have ranked first among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

d. The new district would have had an average annual judicial workload of 55,311 over the past six years which would have been 65% above the judicial district's average judicial workload of 33,616 and which would have ranked fourth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

e. The new district would have had a population of 16,309 which would have been 1% below the judicial district's average population of 16,441 and which would have ranked fourteenth highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

f. The new district would have had a geographic area of 7.527 square miles which would have been 39% above the judicial district's average geographic area of 5.399 square miles and which would have ranked seventh highest among all of the magisterial districts in this category.

For all of the foregoing reasons, Magisterial District 32-2-39 should be reestablished.

VI. LIST EXISTING MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES:
Edgmont Township and Newtown Township

VII. LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES:
Newtown Township and Radnor Township, Wards One, Two (Precinct 1), Three and Six

By eliminating Magisterial District 32-1-29 and transferring Wards One, Two (Precinct 1), Three and Six in Radnor Township from Magisterial District 32-1-29 to this magisterial district and by transferring Edgmont Township from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-2-48, the district's judicial workload and caseload will very significantly improve. Although the district's judicial workload will be above the fifteen percent range, we expect a decline in the judicial workload and caseload in the future.

For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 13,273 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 12,508 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 10,759 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 1,850 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 1,581 annual case filings over the past three years and 1,163 case filings in 2010.

The judicial workload, caseload and population of Magisterial District 32-1-29 have also been declining. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 35,477 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 30,772 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 8,391 annual case filings over the past three years, 6,788 case filings in 2010 and 6,583 case filings in 2011. The district's population has also declined. The district had a population of 19,158 in 2000 and a population of 18,811 in 2010.

For the foregoing reasons, the district's judicial workload and caseload should continue to decline in the future.

D. Office Location (Street, City and Zip code):	1028 Lincoln Avenue Prospect Park 19076
E. Is the office within the boundaries of the magisterial district:	YES
F. Is the residence of the magisterial district judge within the boundaries of the magisterial district:	YES
G. List any police departments located within this magisterial district: The Prospect Park Borough Police Department and the Ridley Park Borough Police Department
H. List any major highways within this magisterial district: SR 420, I 95 and US 13
VI. LIST EXISTING MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Boroughs of Prospect Park and Ridley Park
VII. LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Boroughs of Prospect Park and Ridley Park and Tinicum Township

By eliminating Magisterial District 32-2-41 and transferring Tinicum Township from Magisterial District 32-2-41 to this magisterial district, the district's judicial workload and caseload will very significantly improve. Although the district's judicial workload will be above the fifteen percent range, we expect a decline in the judicial workload and caseload in the future.

For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 27,298 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 24,684 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 24,253 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 3,973 annual case filings over the past six years, 3,677 case filings in 2010 and 3,630 case filings in 2011. The district's population has also declined. The district had a population of 13,790 in 2000 and a population of 13,456 in 2010.

The judicial workload and caseload of Magisterial District 32-2-41 have also been declining. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 34,386 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 32,680 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 7,121 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 7,083 annual case filings over the past three years and 6,690 case filings in 2010.

For the foregoing reasons, the district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to decline in the future.

VI.	LIST EXISTING MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Middletown Township
VII.	LIST PROPOSED MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES: Middletown Township, Thornbury Township, Edgmont Township and Chester Heights Borough

By eliminating Magisterial District 32-1-29, transferring Edgmont Township from Magisterial District 32-2-43 to this magisterial district, transferring Thornbury Township from Magisterial District 32-2-49 to this magisterial district and transferring Chester Heights Borough from Magisterial District 32-2-38 to this magisterial district, the district's judicial workload and caseload will significantly improve. The district will have an average total workload that is slightly below fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload.

Moreover, the district's judicial workload and caseload have been increasing and should soon be within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload. For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 21,975 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 24,311 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 24,322 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 2,513 annual case filings over the past six years, an average of 2,780 annual case filings over the past three years and 2,845 case filings in 2010.

The district, moreover, will experience significant population gains with the transfer of Edgmont Township, Thornbury Township and Chester Heights Borough. These municipalities have experienced substantial population growth, and will result in an increase in the district's population to 30, 353 which is eighty-five percent above the judicial district's average population. The transfer of these municipalities will also result in an increase in the district's geographic area to 34.62 square miles which is 541% larger than the judicial district's average geographic area.

These points were emphasized by an October 3, 2010 article in the Philadelphia Inquirer which stated in relevant part:

> "In Delaware County, by contrast, activity has been concentrated in the Concordville-Glen Mills area, where the Brinton Lake and Concordville Town Center shopping areas are drawing heavy traffic.
> 'The population is growing there. You've got a lot of commercial building that's going on there,' said Ron Anderson, president and chief executive officer of Malvern Federal Savings Bank, which on Sept. 15 opened its eighth branch, next to a Wawa on Route 1.
> Three townships in western Delaware County – Bethel, Concord, and Thornbury – were among the dozen fastest-growing in Philadelphia's Pennsylvania suburbs from 2000 to 2009, adding 11,874 people, according to U.S. Census Bureau estimates.
> Banks have noticed. The number of branches in the area has increased to 13, counting the Citizens branch opening this week, from six in 2000. The difference is even bigger, considering that WSFS last month moved from a small branch in a now-closed Genuardi's to a full-size branch nearby.
> WSFS, which has $3.8 billion in assets, hopes to open a branch in West Chester next month and in December plans to start building a branch in Edgmont on a site Eagle National Bank was going to use for a branch, but decided was too expensive."

The district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to increase in the future by transferring to it Thornbury Township, Edgmont Township and Chester Heights Borough.

By transferring Thornbury Township from this magisterial district to Magisterial District 32-2-48, the district's average total workload will fall slightly below fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload. We expect, however, that the district's judicial workload and caseload will continue to increase and will soon be within fifteen percent of the judicial district's average total workload.

For example, the district had an average annual judicial workload of 32,238 over the past six years, an average annual judicial workload of 33,120 over the past three years and a judicial workload of 33,936 in 2010. Similarly, the district had an average of 3,566 annual case filings over the past three years, 3,851 case filings in 2010 and 4,099 case filings in 2011.

The district also has the highest population in the judicial district and the population continues to increase. The district had a population of 26,617 in 2000 and a population of 37,690 in 2010. The district is also the largest in geographic area in the judicial district.

These points were emphasized by an October 3, 2010 article in the Philadelphia Inquirer which stated in relevant part:

"In Delaware County, by contrast, activity has been concentrated in the Concordville-Glen Mills area, where the Brinton Lake and Concordville Town Center shopping areas are drawing heavy traffic.

For the foregoing reasons, the district's judicial workload, caseload and population should continue to increase in the future.

Furthermore, the judicial workload and caseload of Magisterial District 32-2-48 will very significantly improve by transferring to it Thornbury Township from this magisterial district, Chester Heights Borough from Magisterial District 32-2-38 and Edgmont Township from Magisterial District 32-2-43.

By transferring Ward Three in Haverford Township from Magisterial District 32-1-25 to this magisterial district, the judicial workloads and caseloads for the two Haverford Township magisterial districts will be much more balanced. The district has the sixth highest population and the eleventh largest geographic area in the judicial district.

The prospect for significant growth in the district's judicial workload and case filings is also demonstrated by the following facts. Haverford Township is continuing to develop the 204 acre parcel of land known as the Haverford Reserve. The property is being developed for both residential and community use and will include 100 carriage homes and 198 one-level condominiums in six four-story buildings. Additionally, the Township is currently in the process of developing a Community Recreation and Environmental Center which will include a double gymnasium, walking track, multi-purpose rooms for community events, after school and summer classes and an Environmental Nature Area.

The Haverford Reserve also consists of numerous hiking trails, multiple large sports fields and a huge community all-abilities playground called Freedom Playground with a snack bar and picnic pavilion available for rental. The residents of Haverford Township are coming to this area more frequently and will continue to do so as the site is further developed. Because of this new recreation area, the Haverford Reserve will continue to draw visitors from other areas of the County who wish to utilize these new facilities, especially because of the "all abilities, ADA accessible" nature of the playground.

Because of the location of the Haverford Reserve, the primary method of accessing the area is by vehicle, which has necessitated traffic improvements and additional traffic and criminal enforcement. As the property continues to be developed and as the residential properties continue to be sold and occupied, there will be more residents, more traffic issues, and more case filings in general.

Additionally, the YMCA is in the process of developing a new facility in Haverford Township. Although the proposed YMCA is located in the adjoining Haverford Township magisterial district, it is located at the border of that district, and will most definitely affect the residents of this district with additional traffic, both on the larger roadways of Lawrence Road and Eagle Road, as well as through the neighborhoods of the district. There will be a major increase in traffic from this development with the associated increase in traffic cases and other additional case filings.

Located in an adjacent district is the former Llanarch Quarry, which is also in the process of being developed for commercial and retail uses. This development will increase the number of individuals entering into and travelling through Haverford Township and specifically through the district. Increased case filings, therefore, can be expected.

Route 30 is a main artery in the district. There is currently redevelopment in the area, including an Acme grocery establishment which is in the process of being redeveloped as a much larger super-store and which will lead to additional cases filings.

Major highways in the district include Route 30, Township Line, Eagle Road, Darby Road, Brookline Boulevard and Lawrence Road. These generate a large and increasing number of parking and moving citations.

Additionally, there are many area college students who reside in the district and who will generate an increasing number of case filings including students from Haverford College, Bryn Mawr College and Villanova University. Student housing developments within the district will also generate additional cases.

There have also been two additional developments of residential properties in the district which will encompass fifteen new homes.

Finally, in recent years, the Haverford Township Police Department has not been operating with a full complement of police officers. With the recent addition of several new officers, it is anticipated that the number of case filings will increase over the next ten years.

For the foregoing reasons, the district's judicial workload and caseload should continue to increase in the future.

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

This magisterial district should be reestablished for the following reasons. First, the Order of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania dated December 13, 2002, created this magisterial district because of the excessive burden which existed on Magisterial District 32-1-32 in serving all of Springfield Township. The Township had exceedingly high case filings in 2002, a very large population and a large geographic area. The situation remains unchanged in 2012. Second, the district's judicial workload and caseload should dramatically increase in the future.

In 2002, the population of Springfield Township was 26,392, or 58% higher than the judicial district's average population of 16,692. The average caseload was 5,674, or 32% higher than the judicial district's average caseload of 4,302. The population density was 3,923, or 36% higher than the judicial district's average population density of 2,890. The Township was also experiencing extensive commercial redevelopment and proposed residential development. Baltimore Pike, Route 420, Route 320, Route 1 and I-476 (the Blue Route) were all major, heavily traveled commercial thoroughfares that ran through Springfield Township. The geographic area of Springfield Township is 6.727 square miles which was considerably higher than many of the other magisterial districts.

In order to relieve the burden on Magisterial District 32-1-32 and to alleviate inequality caused by the high caseload, population, population density and geographic area of Springfield Township, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania determined that the citizens of Springfield Township and Morton Borough would best be served by the establishment of an additional magisterial district in Springfield Township.

The situation in 2012 has not significantly changed. The population of Springfield Township has increased to 26,880 which is 63% higher than the judicial district's average population of 16,441. The Township had an average annual judicial workload of 44,727 over the past six years which is 33% higher than the judicial district's average annual judicial workload and an average annual judicial workload of 43,770 over the past three years which is 27% higher than the judicial district's average annual judicial workload.

Similarly, the Township had an average of 6,881 annual case filings over the past six years which is 52% higher than the judicial district's average annual case filings and an average of 6,813 annual case filings over the past three years which is 44% higher than the judicial district's average annual case filings.

Just as importantly, this magisterial district's judicial workload and caseload should increase dramatically in the future. Because the Springfield Township Police Department has had at least five vacancies in its police complement over the past two years and because the Township Police Department has been involved in intense contract negotiations with the Township over the past two years, traffic case filings have dramatically declined over that two year period. For example, the district had 2,736 traffic case filings in 2007, 2,502 traffic case filings in 2008 and 2,234 traffic case filings in 2009. In sharp contrast, the district had only 1,261 traffic case filings in 2010 and only 1,031 traffic case filings 2011. The district's judicial workload and caseload should increase dramatically when the police vacancies are filled, the contract negotiations are completed and traffic case filings return to their normal level.

The prospect of significant growth in the district's judicial workload and caseload is also demonstrated by the following facts. Although the new Walmart Super Store is located in adjoining Marple Township, it will most definitely affect the residents of this magisterial district with additional traffic on the major thoroughfares, as well as, through the neighborhoods of the district. We expect an increase in case filings due to the new Walmart Super Store.

MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT REESTABLISHMENT WORKSHEET

This magisterial district is also specially assigned to hear numerous types of cases throughout the judicial district including welfare fraud cases, fish and game cases and weights and measure cases. It is anticipated that the number of case filings in these types of cases should also increase in the future.

For the foregoing reasons, Magisterial District 32-2-54 should be reestablished.

Re: The 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan

Dear Mr. Willimas,

The Mayor and Borough Council of Millbourne Borough object to the transferring of all parking cases from Magisterial District 32-1-33 (The Honorable Judge Harry J. Karapalides' magisterial district) to Magisterial District 32-2-52 (The Honorable Judge Kelly A. Micozzie-Aguirre's magisterial district)as proposed as the 13th change in The 2012 Magisterial District Reestablishment Plan.

This objection is based on several factors, two of which I'll note here. The first is that only a small number of cases, 150 cases representing 90 individuals in Year 2011, were referred to Magisterial District 32-1-33. While not a large number, each of these cases are important as part of the parking enforcement program within the Borough,. Another fact is the relatively large distance between Millbourne Borough and Judge Micozzie-Aguirre's court in Secane. A distance which would be problematic from a personnel standpoint to our tiny Borough.

On behalf of the Mayor and Council of Millbourne Borough, I hereby respectfully request your kind consideration of our stated objection and allow our parking cases to remain in Judge Harry J. Karapalides' court located in our neighboring community of Upper Darby.

Please note that I have discussed this matter with his honor, Judge Harry J. Karapallds, and have received his support for our request which currently adds an average of two (2) cases to his weekly caseload. I have also emailed addition information to Joan Vanhorn your First Assistant Administrator and welcome questions on this matter from either of you.

Sincerely,

Tina Mason
