Judicial District Summary Sheet

County Name: Franklin

Judicial District #: 39

Caseload and Magisterial District Elimination Analysis

The difference between the average annual caseload of Judicial District # 39 and its class of county: -6 %

Although Franklin County is 6% below the benchmark, no eliminations are offered because of the following:

1. Move from 5th to 4th class county
2. Increased population growth – third only to Monroe and Pike counties
3. The average number of magisterial districts for a 4th class county is 8.3; Franklin proposes to maintain 7.
4. Eliminating a district will result in a non-contiguous split of the remaining districts in order to balance caseload.
5. Growth in 39-3-05 anticipated due to Norfolk Southern Intermodal project.

Newly elected MDJ in 39-3-06 has more proactive policies than the prior judge who held the seat since 1981.

Night/Central/Alternate Court Operations

This judicial district utilizes the following diversionary courts to assist in balancing workload:

Central Court: Yes Night Court: No

Franklin and Fulton Counties utilize a central court system. Propose increasing 39-3-03 and 39-3-06 rotation responsibilities to help equalize workload. Further, on-call offices will now docket cases in the originating district rather than the on call district to provide more accurate statistics.

Public Comment

Proposal Posted for Public Comment: Yes Comments Received: No

General Comments Franklin County used 4th class county data because of change from 5th to 4th class; and for purposes of comparison, removed Centre County from analysis because Centre County significantly affects the numbers. The revised class of county average is 4,051.

Magisterial District Reestablishment Report

39th Judicial District

Franklin and Fulton Counties

2012 – 2021

Issued February 29, 2012

Introduction

In October 2011, the 39th Judicial District which consists of Franklin and Fulton Counties was notified by the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC) of its requirement under 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 1503 to participate in the reestablishment of magisterial districts.

As a result of this announcement, judicial districts across the Commonwealth were tasked with assessing whether it is feasible to eliminate any magisterial districts through both an analysis of data and consideration of additional relevant circumstances. Statistical data and guidelines for this process were provided by AOPC for the last six years (2005-2010) for case filings for criminal, traffic, non-traffic, private complaints, civil, landlord-tenant, and miscellaneous docket filings. In addition to case filing statistics, a new measure was developed to differentiate among case types and judicial workload.

This reestablishment process occurs every ten years and is directly related to the Federal decennial census. The guidelines indicate that the 39th Judicial District shall submit recommendations to the AOPC regarding the reestablishment of its District Courts no later than March 30, 2012.

The following report, along with required worksheets provided by the AOPC, will meet the requirements of the AOPC.

Guidelines

Magisterial District Reestablishment guidelines and packets were provided in October 2011 by AOPC. In addition, a Regional Reestablishment Workshop was held in November 2011 which was facilitated by Amy Kehner, Judicial Programs Administrator with AOPC. For the current reestablishment project, the AOPC provided standards which counties are to review and make recommendations. These standards are outlined in the document provided by the AOPC, Magisterial District Reestablishment Guidelines. In addition to these written guidelines, Franklin County was advised by the AOPC to use 4th class data because Franklin County moved from 5th class status to 4th class status effective January 2012. Lastly, Franklin County, after conferring with AOPC, elected to remove data from Centre County because their average caseload is significantly higher than all other 4th class counties.

The goal of the Supreme Court is a 10% reduction in the Commonwealth's district courts. The AOPC preferred method is to eliminate magisterial districts through attrition. Whenever practical, reductions should occur by eliminating a district which is vacant or in which the incumbent is retiring or not planning to seek reelection. When elimination through attrition is not feasible, average caseload should be used to evaluate whether to eliminate one or more magisterial districts. By using the data provided by AOPC, the average caseloads for each judicial district should be compared to the average caseloads for judicial districts within same class of county.

Recommendation:

Because the 39th Judicial District spans two counties, magisterial districts within each county were separately considered. With this said, there is no recommendation to eliminate any existing district courts within the 39th Judicial District. However, Realignment should occur for District Courts 39-3-03, 39-3-04, and 39-3-06; and Reestablishment should occur for District Courts 39-2-01, 39-3-02, 39-3-05, 39-3-07, 39-4-01, 39-4-02, and 39-4-03. There are several reasons for this recommendation.

1. During the 2002 Magisterial District Reestablishment Process, Franklin County was a 5th Class County and requested approval from AOPC to add an additional Magisterial District (39-3-07). That request was granted and 39-3-07 was added. Ten years later, Franklin County moved from 5th class status to 4th class status, but has elected to not add another magisterial district. Instead, believes maintaining seven magisterial districts are warranted given a jump in class status.
2. Franklin County is growing rapidly. According to U.S. Census estimates, Franklin County's population grew by 15.7% from 2002 (129,313) to 2010 (149,618). Only two counties experienced growth more rapidly than Franklin County. Pike County (23.9%) and Monroe County (22.5%). Because of this growth, Franklin County moved to a 4th class county in 2012.
3. Franklin County has seven Magisterial District Courts; however, the average number of districts for a 4th class county is 8.3.
4. AOPC guidelines state that all portions of the magisterial district must be contiguous. The two districts with both the highest caseloads and workloads are 39-2-01 and 39-3-02. The two districts with both the lowest caseloads and workloads are 39-3-03 and 39-3-06. However, these districts are not contiguous to those with the highest loads, so a simple shift of caseload and workload from 39-2-01 and 39-3-02 to 39-3-03 and 39-3-06 is not possible because this would result in a non-contiguous split.
5. Growth in Magisterial District 39-3-05 is anticipated due to Norfolk Southern Intermodal Project taking place in Antrim Township. In addition to anticipated growth within 39-3-05, it is anticipated that this Intermodal expansion project will bring a population increase to not only Antrim Township, but neighboring or contiguous municipalities. Magisterial District 39-3-06 neighbors Antrim Township. Business district growth is also anticipated as a result of this intermodal project.
6. It is anticipated that Magisterial District 39-3-06 will see an increase in filings as a result of change associated with a newly elected Magisterial District Judge taking office in January 2012. The previous Magisterial District Judge was in office since 1981. In the first two months of 2012, personnel from 39-3-06 have shared with Court Administration that criminal, traffic, and non-traffic filings are slowly on the rise and payments/foot traffic in the office is increasing. It is anticipated that a change in culture and practices will continue to be contributing factors that will lead to increased caseloads and workloads for 39-3-06. In addition to change in leadership, a large landfill business (Mountain View Reclamation and Waste Management) straddles both Antrim and Peters Township, and that as a result of

- patrols by law enforcement, result in increased traffic filings to both 39-3-05 and 39-3-06 depending on the enter/exit route taken (either into Antrim Township or Peters Township). It is proposed that by designation, all traffic related filings pertaining to this business be filed with 39-3-06. Traffic filings associated with this business typically range from 15 to 30 per year, but can vary depending on detail by law enforcement.
7. Both Franklin and Fulton Counties utilize a Central Court program. With regards to Franklin County's Central Court, this procedure has been established since January 2001. It is proposed that there be more of a rotation by Magisterial Judges in 39-3-03 and 39-3-06 through Central Court in an effort to create more of workload equity within Franklin County. Currently, Judges are assigned to the weekly Central Court sessions on a rotation basis. All seven Magisterial District Judges in Franklin County will still rotate through Central Court; however, Magisterial District Judges in 39-3-03 and 39-3-06 will rotate through more often, thus increasing their workload due to increased participation in the countywide Central Court process. It is anticipated that this newly scheduled rotation will afford Magisterial District Judges in 39-2-01 and 39-3-02 more scheduling opportunities within their offices, thus making overall workload more equitable within Franklin County.
 8. All Magisterial District Judges in Franklin and Fulton Counties take rotations with regards to being on call. In Franklin County, the practice has been that the on-call judge will docket the case to their office when handled on call even when case is outside of their municipality. This practice will change and on-call judges will docket cases to the respective municipality. This will provide a more accurate reflection of caseloads and workloads for all districts; particularly, 39-3-03 and 39-3-06.
